

SEEDS-Unimi-UCSC Workshop on “Sustainability and Environmental Economics”

23 May 2024 - Sala Napoleonica, Via Sant'Antonio 12, Milan

The Department of Environmental Science and Policy (ESP) at the University of Milan, in collaboration with the DISEIS and CRANEC of Catholic University of Milan, is hosting a workshop to celebrate ten years of activities of the inter-university research center on Sustainability Environmental Economics and Dynamics Studies (SEEDS).

SEEDS develops research and higher education projects in the fields of ecological and environmental economics, with a special focus on the role of policy and innovation. Info: sustainability-seeds.org

Registration: forms.gle/gf5v4JgiF6Y4HSRY9

Programme

9:15-9:45	Opening remarks Alessandro Olper (University of Milan) Roberto Zoboli (Catholic University of Milan) Marzio Galeotti (University of Milan)
9:45-10:30	Green collars at the voting booth: Material interest and environmental voting Italo Colantone (Bocconi University)
10:30-11:00	Coffee break
11:00-12:00	Climate, weather, and the labour force – Attribution and economic damages Shouro Dasgupta (CMCC and Ca' Foscari University)	Empirical analysis of climate change impacts on Italian crop yields Paolo Nota (University of Milan)
12:00-13:00	Understanding Italian citizens' willingness to participate in Renewable Energy Communities Francesca Giuliano (Catholic University of Milan)	Flying towards sustainability? Investigating the attitude-behaviour gap among Italian air travellers Riccardo Colantuono (IUSS and University of Siena)
13:00-14:15	Lunch
14:15-15:00	Digitalization and sustainability: “sustainable digitalization”, “digitalization for sustainability” or “unsustainable digitalization”? Claudia Ghisetti (University of Milano-Bicocca)
15:00-16:00	Green industrialization and local job multipliers Federico Frattini (FEEM)	Environmental justice gap in Italy: The role of industrial agglomerations and regional pollution dispersion capacity Alessandra Drigo (University of Milan and FEEM)
16:00-17:00	Technology, materials, and conflicts in Africa Giacomo Lupi (University of Ferrara)	Drought effects on agricultural productivity across EU regions Andrea Pronti (Catholic University of Milan)
17:00-17:30	Cocktail and adjourn	